It appears the Ebay is a good source for parts. It will let you plug into a standard 110 outlet and will give you variable speed to boot. To view purplewave.com you must have javascript enabled. Thanks everone Bob I used to be able to get parts from Delta for older lathes. Would a static phase converter work well with this setup? Where do I get parts. The pulleys on a lot of older machines weren't anything unusual. I am new at wood turning and have an old delta 46-450 wood lathe that is in good condition except for a few parts. Pulleys and springs can probably be bought locally. The upper pulley and load spring washer needs replacing. Thanks for the advice, Delta does not carry many parts for the old lathes. The best bet on the motor would be to purchase a Variable Frequency Drive and have someone install it. You might check there first. © 1996-2014, Amazon.com, Inc. The trick is knowing which one to buy and I'm not an expert here. I have purchased one from this company and installed it myself. I am going to try a static phase converter for the 3 phase motor. That is the problem.
